

Hometown Explorer

Name: Anna
Age: 25
Location: Kyiv, Ukraine
Occupation: Florist

Goals

- Find hidden gems of the city that are not described in guidebooks.
- Diversify her walks by discovering the history and finding new features of familiar streets.
- Feel the city as a living history, not just a background for everyday life.

Likes

- Likes cozy courtyards, graffiti, historical plaques, and unique architectural elements.
- Often browses local blogs or chats about unusual locations.
- Prefers solutions that provide an interactive experience, not just lists of places.

Story

Anna grew up in Lviv, with a historian father and a botanist mother, which influenced the formation of her main hobbies. She prefers walking and observing the urban environment to noisy parties. After studying at the Academy of Arts, Anna found herself in floristry, where she combines her love of plants with inspiration from the architectural elements of her hometown. Today, 25-year-old Anna has her own florist shop, lives in the historic center, and is passionate about photographing architectural details. She also likes to read urban legends related to historic buildings and streets. Despite her introverted nature, Anna shares her urban discoveries with friends and in a modest blog. She dreams of creating an interactive map of Mysterious Lviv that will reveal the unnoticed gems of their city to the citizens.

Traits

Curious — likes to find little-known places, even in familiar neighborhoods.
Observant — notices small but unique details in the city.
Introverted — mostly walks alone or with close friends.
Adaptable — easily changes the route if something interesting pops up.

Needs

- Have a convenient tool for finding new interesting places.
- Access to contextual information about the places she notices while walking.
- Easy orientation in remote areas.

Pain points

- Lack of a convenient and easy way to learn the history of individual objects.
- Some interesting places are difficult to find or hidden in the nooks.
- Standard tourist routes are too predictable and do not provide new experiences.

Behavior patterns

- Often walks without a clearly defined route, just exploring the city.
- Visits both touristy and lesser-known locations if learns about them by chance.

Dislikes

- Locations overcrowded with tourists.
- Lack of quality local guides about lesser-known corners of the city.
- Walks that do not bring any impressions.
